

A technical line drawing of a modern chandelier. It features a circular, lattice-like upper body with a central vertical rod and a chain for hanging. Numerous teardrop-shaped crystals hang from the bottom of the lattice. Dimension lines indicate a diameter of 800mm for the upper body, a total height of 2000mm from the ceiling to the bottom of the crystals, and a height of 480mm for the crystal section. A small 'x' marks the start of the crystal section's height measurement.
